WALKING TO THE KLONDIKE.

Efforts of a Parisian Journalist to Obtain a Prize.

Toronto, Canada, Aug. 30.—M. C. A. F. Bronard, a Parisian artist and journalist, who is trying to travel from Paris to the Klondike in eight months in order to obtain the reward of 25,000 francs proffered by the French Geographical Society, arrived in the city today.

The stipulation is that he must walk the entire distance, except where it is necessary to take a steamer. He left Paris on March 22 and walked to Havre, where he embarked on June 30 for New York, which he left on July 31 for Montreal. He was furnished with passports from the French government.

One Thousand Miners on Strike.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 30.—One thousand men of the Evans and the Coleraine collieries at Beaver Meadow, and Coleraine near Hazleton, operated by the A. S. Van Winkle trustees, are on strike. This decision was reached at a meeting of the men at Beaver Meadow on Sunday night, and pickets are now stationed along the road leading to the collieries notifying all who were not aware of the strike that no work will be allowed until the grievances are settled. The cause of the strike is alleged to have been the discharge of a Hungarian who refused to pay for the company doctor. The company assigns incompetency as the cause of the man's discharge.

Quarantine at Galveston Lifted.

Galveston, Texas, Aug. 30.—The quarantine against Galveston was lifted last night. It is contended that a murder was committed. A case of typhoid fever had been mistaken for yellow fever. The affair will be brought to the attention of the national and State governments.

WHAT DO THE CHILDREN DRINK?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more health and strength through their systems. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee. Just about a quarter as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

CUBANS ADMIRE LAWTON

Change of Sentiment Respecting the American Position.

CASTILLO ABOUT TO RETIRE

Declines the Post of Governor of Manzanillo—Will Lay Down His Arms When Matters Are Settled and Resume the Practice of Medicine.

Santiago, Aug. 30.—Gen. Castillo's opinion of the Americans has undergone a radical change in the last few weeks. Apparently he has lost the idea that America's sole aim was the acquisition of territory without regard to justice and the expressed wishes of the Cubans. He seems to think, after all, we mean to deal fairly and honestly by the people in whose cause we have squandered blood and treasure.

This changed opinion Gen. Castillo himself ascribes to the marked contrast between Gen. Lawton's treatment of the insurgent leaders and Gen. Shafter's. Gen. Lawton's conciliatory policy and his deference to the peculiar sensibilities of the Cubans has won them over.

The result is the strong feeling against Gen. Shafter has been replaced by equal admiration for Gen. Lawton. The less intelligent members of the Cuban extremes now assert that many things which it was impossible to put through while Gen. Shafter was here to wound their feelings will now be readily assented to under Gen. Lawton's gentle flattery.

Recent reports to the effect that the Cuban leaders would meet at Camaguey and at a conference of the provisional government and representatives of the insurgent army, established a government which might be recognized by the United States, is confirmed by Gen. Castillo.

He states that Gen. Gomez has crossed the Júcaro-Maron trocha and is now in the department of Camaguey on his way to the city. Gen. Garcia has left Havana on the same mission. Col. Góngora, with 2,000 men from Castillo's command, has left for the same place, as has also Gen. Colazo.

Gen. Castillo says that the principal subject discussed at his recent interview with Gen. Lawton was the disbanding of the Cuban Army.

He was assured by Gen. Lawton that such positions as were possible in the government of the capitulated territory would be given to the Cubans, and that Gen. Lawton would provide employment for the soldiers disbanded as far as he could. The question of pay for the Cuban soldiers was discussed. Gen. Lawton stated that the authorities in Washington were considering that point.

To Gen. Castillo the post of Governor of Manzanillo was offered, but he refused it, stating that he had taken up arms to free his country, and not for the sake of claiming a position. When matters are settled, he intends to retire to private life, resuming his practice as a physician.

The final result of the conference was that Gen. Castillo promised to lay the whole matter before Gen. Garcia, and a courier is now on his way to see Gen. Garcia. Castillo will be here to-day to meet Gen. Lawton.

SHELLEY KEPT HIS MEN POSTED.

Progress of His Fight With Cervantes. Believed to Be Dead.

Normal, Conn., Aug. 30.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Shelley reached the Saginaw station yesterday evening and was driven to the summer home of his son-in-law, R. M. S. Wortley, at Hendricks Point. He was accompanied from New York by his wife and son-in-law and Mr. Parker, of New York.

He had been recognized on the train, and as he started to leave the car three hearty cheers were given him. Then all the passengers followed him from the train, and, joined by the citizens, re-formed the cheering which the rear admiral acknowledged by standing in his carriage and raising his hat.

"I am very well," the rear admiral said last night. "The rest and cool have made me all right and I am very well. On Wednesday I shall sail for the Seneca for Porto Rico as a high commissioner representing this country."

While talking of the destruction of Cervantes' fleet off Santiago the rear admiral said:

"I took it for granted that every man on the ship was just to get the range on how the fight was going as I was, but the men behind the casemates and those below decks could not see what was going on. During the battle I sent orders all right and everything is sunk except the ship, and she is trying to get away. We don't want her to, and everything depends on you."

"They responded nobly," and we got her."

Of the death of young Ellis, the only man killed on the Brooklyn, the Rear Admiral said:

"He was a bright lad, from Brooklyn, who enlisted to go before the mast, but he was a hard worker, studied navigation with the young officers of the ship, and had risen to the rank of yeoman."

"As I stood talking with Capt. Cook, while we were finishing the Viceroy, it seemed that our ship was falling a little short. I turned to Ellis, who stood near, and asked him what the range was. He replied, 'Seventeen hundred yards.' 'I have pretty keen eyesight, and it seldom deceives me as to distances, and I told him I thought it was slightly more than that. 'I just took it, sir, but I'll try it again,' he said, and stepped off to one side about eight feet to get the range. 'He had just raised his instrument to his eye when a shell struck him full in the face and carried away all of his head above the mouth. A deal of blood spurted around, and the men near were rattled for a moment."

Nunns was of good family, twenty-three years of age, and robust. He was sick only five days, when he died. The corpse was given no attention until yesterday. No ice was used, though an autopsy had been held. The body was lying on a cot entirely naked, and was covered with insects. The doctors, on being asked why they had not notified the man's family, said they left that for his captain in the Ambulance Corps to attend to. Then the captain and doctors had a wrangle as to who was to blame. Being asked why the body was not dressed, the doctors said the man had no clothes.

"Did the man have any clothes?" asked Capt. O'Connor.

"No, sir, but he had no clothes."

When they heard that the attention of Gov. Black of New York would be called to the matter, a suit of clothes was instantly found, the body was washed and dressed, and fixed for burial. The remains lay right against a tent full of sick men.

Capt. O'Connor last night preferred charges against Maj. Smith, Maj. Raymond, and Maj. Hubbard, the doctors in charge.
